

THE GAZETTE.

JANESVILLE, SATURDAY, JUNE 14.

GREAT MEN WILL DIFFER.

There can be no perfect agreement among public men on all great national questions. Statesmen will differ, and party lines will be broken, on all such questions as the coinage of silver, pensions, and on many phases of tariff legislation. That this is so is not surprising. There is no iron clad oath that keeps republicans or democrats in a straight line on all questions. Individual independence and thinking for one's self lead some to move on their own convictions, and they are all the stronger for it.

Speaking about the position of Senator Everts on the silver bill, the Evening Wisconsin remarks that "he has been shaky for some time past on the silver question. Though he is 73 years of age he harbors the idea, none on his part, of being the republican presidential candidate in 1892, and therefore he is trying to conciliate the extreme silver men in the party. If he had any show for the presidency before, he has knocked it out by his last speech. Are all our statesmen losing the moral courage which made Grant and Garfield so illustrious? It is not at all likely that Senator Everts is a candidate for '92. He is too old, and besides the party will generally consider that he has not the "making" of a good president. His career in the senate has been disappointing to his friends—not because he has not great ability, but because he is not adapted to the work of the senate.

But it is no wonder Mr. Everts and some other republicans do not agree with the Wisconsin on the silver bill. The theory of free coinage of silver and abundance of it, seems as far as the theory of free markets the world over, but in practice it is found wanting. All men do not look at coinage of silver and international trade in the same light, but because of this difference men should not be counted as shaky in their political faith or lacking in moral courage.

IT IS GABE'S WAY.

By request, Philosopher Gabe Oebkush, has written a letter to Mr. Chairman Ed. Wall on the Bennett law. Col. Bouck writes at considerable length and says some good things about religious prejudice, etc., and tells some truths about democratic opposition to paternalism, but he does not say the Bennett law should be repealed.—State Journal.

Mr. Bouck is a cunning old fox. While writing on the Bennett law to please Mr. Wall and to furnish an antidote to the vigorous letters of Mr. Felker and Mr. Trimble, he didn't intend to say much about the law. Bouck's way of doing things is to do them in a way in which no one else would do them. His philosophy, in case of great emergency like the present, is to go right at a thing and miss it. It will be cold comfort that Mr. Chairman Wall will get out of Bouck's letter.

Gabriel doesn't always blow his horn to please the ear of the democratic leaders. When he said Mr. Wall, "compulsory laws in matters not deemed a wrong or a crime are repugnant," he probably stunned the democratic chairman with the indifference he showed in regard to one of the chief features of the educational law. That which Mr. Wall wanted Mr. Bouck to say he didn't say, for he left the Bennett law in tact. Very likely he hadn't studied the law any more than Mr. Wall or some other of the democratic leaders, and therefore was not prepared to tear it all to pieces as the chairman expected he would.

It wouldn't be a bad thing for some of the democratic leaders, including Mr. Bouck, Chairman Wall, Erasmus Anderson, and a few others, to give the Bennett law a few minutes study. It is an interesting document, and these gentlemen may be surprised to learn that there is nothing whatever in it which incites race prejudice, religious controversies, or in anywise interferes with parochial schools.

An American lady with American ideas and a pretty good stock of common sense, sends a paper this item: "While in Canada recently, I went into a candy store to make purchase, and, as I always do at home, sampled some of the varieties piled on the counter. And what do you think I found? Cayenne pepper! At first I supposed it was some candy made for April fool's day, but when I sampled two other piles which looked tempting and from which, had they pleased me, I should have purchased, I found that cayenne pepper was in each piece. "In order to stop customers eating candy they don't pay for," said my companion. I tell you I was mad; and when I thought of the way in this country, where one is asked to sample every thing unknown before buying, I told the clerk I didn't want the caramels. I understand some one is trying to annex Canada to the United States. Well, my uncle is a United States senator, and I shall tell him that unless he prevent such a thing I shall go to Europe and marry a French prince. I understand that they are cheap now."

There is a glimmer of hope coming from one end of congress, Senator Sherman threatens to amend the senate rules so that speeches will not be more than one hour long. The Chicago State Journal says "Senator Sherman knows a good deal more than the average senator, and he can tell all he knows about any subject in less than an hour. When Sherman indulges in a speech he speaks to the senate, not to the galleries; and for that reason his speeches are listened to by senators and are eagerly sought after and read by the people." It would be a good thing for the country could the spirit and common sense of Sherman find their way into the house.

A prominent New York paper keeps this line standing at the head of its editorial columns: "It is natural for the patriotic citizens of a republic to be republicans." This is true. All the national measures which have made this country great within the past thirty years, have been the work of republicans. Not a single measure of this kind has been inaugurated by the democratic party, neither has the party thrown its influence for any of the measures which have crowned the country with honor.

INTERVIEWING THE POPE

The Pope Denies the Report that He Contemplates Leaving Rome or Accepting Refuge Elsewhere.

MARY ANDERSON SAYS SHE HATES PUBLICITY.

Therefore She Will Be Married Quietly, with Only Her Relatives Present—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, June 14.—Contrary to expectation, Mary Anderson has determined to have her wedding at quiet and exclusive as possible, at the risk of offending a number of friends and devoted admirers, and against the wishes of Dr. Griffin. Mary long ago made up her mind that she would become Mrs. Navarro without any pomp and vanity. To-day a correspondent visited the house in Hampstead Heath where dwells Dr. Griffin's family, of which Mary will be a member until Tuesday next.

When the correspondent rang the bell on her own Mary opened the door suddenly, nearly upsetting a rather short but good-looking young man dressed in a suit of dark check who stood behind her. "Oh, I beg your pardon," she said, "I thought I did not hurt you?"

"Not at all, dear; it's all right," was the reply.

"Is Dr. Griffin at home?" the correspondent asked. Mary smiled benignly as she answered, "He is."

"It is really with yourself, Miss Anderson?" the newspaper man said, "I want to talk. People in America are deeply interested in all that interests you. I would like you to give me some account of the wedding ceremony which is to take place next Tuesday."

If any woman in this world can put on a bashful look that woman is Mary Anderson. She actually blushed. "What can I tell you," Miss Anderson began. "Really, there is not much to tell."

"I want you to let me into the secret of the arrangements for your wedding," Miss Anderson said. "We are going to be married in the quietest manner possible. Only the members of my family will be present. I have been compelled to ignore even friends who have been most kind to me while in England. We shall go away immediately after the ceremony."

"What, no magnificent dresses, no pretty bridesmaids?"

"No, no magnificent dresses," replied Mary. "I have no magnificent trousseau. I have decided that everything shall be perfectly quiet. I shall wear a walking dress most probably. I hate fuss, and would rather my wedding should be entirely private."

Mr. Navarro was standing behind the door during all this talk, gazing with evident admiration at his fiancée.

"Now I am afraid I can give you nothing more; yes, I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll ask Dr. Griffin to come to you."

The correspondent was left standing in the middle of the floor a few minutes after Dr. Griffin had left the house. Without much ado he said: "I would have had her married at the cathedral, and should have had things done up in style, but she would have it her way. As I know, as she has her heart set on private life altogether, it is no use arguing with her. She always hates too much publicity."

Having to be married at the little Catholic chapel by a well-known priest. After the wedding Mary and her husband will start immediately for Rome, stopping at Hotel de Ville, and proceeding to Paris leisurely next morning.

Will Remain in Italy.

The Pope Denies That He Contemplates Leaving Rome.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A private letter from Rome says that Rev. Bishop Brodolini of Helena, Mont., who is now visiting the Vatican, has taken back to the United States an important address from the Holy Pontiff to the faithful in America. The bishop has had several interviews with the Pope, in the course of which the latter has bitterly lamented the persecution to which he is subjected by the Italian authorities, which he claims is on the increase. He feels very keenly the fact that for twelve years he has been compelled to remain within the boundaries of the Vatican, but denies the report that he is contemplating accepting a refuge elsewhere, and says that he proposes to remain and defend the rights of the Holy See to his last breath.

The War Minister May Resign.

BREITLIN, June 14.—It is reported that the German general, General von Moltke, Minister of War, relative to further military requirements, were made without the consent of Chancellor von Caprivi, and that in consequence the resignation of the War Minister may be expected.

Earthquakes in the East.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 14.—Intelligent readers of this paper will be surprised to learn that several shocks of earthquakes have occurred in Eriwan, Caucasus. As far as now reported no lives were lost, but several villages were wrecked and much destitution exists among the homeless people.

Lord Wolseley Will Resign.

LONDON, June 14.—It is positively announced that Lord Wolseley will resign his position as adjutant-general of the headquarters staff of the army, the resignation to take effect July 31.

FLAMES AT TOPEKA.

Twenty Horses Burned in a Livery Stable—Lumber Yard Damaged.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 14.—A fire broke out on East Sixth street, in the heart of the city, at 12:30 o'clock this morning, and considerable damage was done.

It originated in the livery stable of Louis Roberts and spread to the lumber yard of Brooks & Miller and the agricultural implement establishment of Zeedy, Morton & Co., and other smaller establishments, entailing a loss of probably $25,000. Twenty horses were burned in Roberts' stables.

New York Wants the Lottery.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A gentleman from New Orleans and several in this city, who are personally acquainted with John A. Morris of the Louisiana Lottery company, says the refusal of the Louisiana legislature to renew the charter of that institution would result in its being reorganized in Nova Scotia. A proposition from Nova Scotians is already in Mr. Morris' hands, and only awaits his acceptance to have the necessary legislation passed.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be placed to the taste and to the eye easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. For possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

Weak Women.

The most sensitive nature of the female sex renders women much more susceptible than men to those numerous ills which spring from lack of harmony in the system. The nervous system gives way, the digestive tract is troubled, the appetite is lost, and other ailments peculiar to the sex cause great suffering. Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for such cases, and has received the most gratifying praise for the relief it has afforded thousands of women whose very existence before taking it, was only misery. It strengthens the nerves, cures sick headache and indigestion, purifies the blood, and gives regular and healthy action to every organ in the body.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

The Business of the Country Unprecedented in Volume.

NEW YORK, June 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly review of trade says: Speculation has been neither large in volume nor enthusiastic in tone during the last week, but the legitimate business of the country continues unprecedented in volume for the season and highly encouraging in prospects. There has been quite a decline in exports from New York for two weeks past, the value having been 14 per cent below that of the same weeks last year, while in imports here a moderate increase continues, that of last week being 5 per cent. But the flow of currency to this center supplies demands and makes the market easy. Interior cities report rather more demand for money, and at Boston rates are rising. At Chicago and St. Louis steady, and at Philadelphia dull, not much commercial paper offering; but at most points the demand is fair, with a sufficient supply. Crop prospects begin to rule all markets at this season, and these are distinctly improving.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 215, as compared with 205 for the corresponding week of last year, the figures were 250.

MAKES THE CALL.

Gov. Fifer Will Cause the Legislature to Assemble July 23.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 14.—Gov. Fifer has issued a call for a special session for July 23 to consider the world's fair.

Vice-President Bryan and several Chicagoans are in Springfield and had an interview with Gov. Fifer just before the call was issued. They came in response to a telegram from the governor to explain various points and to make a defense in case the delegation opposing the call should put in an appearance.

No opposition was made, however, and the delegation was overjoyed when the executive said he would get the legislature together. The draft of the call proposed by the world's fair officers was the one issued.

A delegation consisting of S. C. Macmillan, Dr. DeWolf, E. A. Blodgett, and Legrand W. Pearce, waited on the governor this morning in opposition to the special session. Vice-President T. B. Bryan was also there, but he was excluded from the conference. After the opposition had had their say the governor called in Mr. Bryan, and after a half-hour's consultation it was announced that the proclamation would be issued.

HE KILLED HIS FATHER.

Young Herbert Warren Protects His Mother From Injury.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 14.—J. Frank Warren, a commercial traveler, was shot and instantly killed early this morning by his 16-year-old son, Herbert.

Young Warren was awakened by the noise of a violent quarrel between his father and mother, and, upon going to their bedroom, saw his father chasing his mother around the room. The young man went back to his own room, procured a pistol, and, returning, shot his father dead. After the dreadful affair Mrs. Warren said letters would be found in her husband's pocket, which would give an explanation of the tragedy.

Investigation showed a letter of a very loving nature, signed Eva, and written from Norwalk, Conn. It made an appointment to meet Warren at a certain place and date. Another letter was also found, dated Bath, N. Y., and signed Myra A. Thompson. The Warrens are a prominent and highly respected family. Herbert is a student at Bryant hall.

Met a Summary Fate.

TYLER, Tex., June 14.—Three citizens of this county arrested a Mexican on Cottonwood creek yesterday on a charge of criminal assault committed in Bastrop. They brought him to this city this morning about 3 o'clock and turned him over to the local officers, who started to lock him up, but before they could do so they were surrounded by a band of twenty armed men, who took the prisoner from them and started south in the direction of the railroad. A few minutes later a dozen or more pistol shots were heard, and this morning at daylight the prisoner's body was found lying on the railroad crossing. His head was shot almost off and he received shots in the body.

Another Record Breaker.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Hamburg steamship Columbia arrived in port yesterday and came in with a hurrah. She beat her own record, which was the best of all steamships sailing from Germany and touching at Southampton. The journey of the Columbia was made from the New York to the Hook, a distance of 3,000 miles, in 6 days, 16 hours, 30 minutes.

Death of an Old Missionary.

BOSTON, Mass., June 14.—News has been received here of the death of Rev. Edward T. Hoare, at Houlton, Me., May 13. For thirty-five years he was a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. He was born at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, in 1859.

ACCIDENTALLY DROWNED.
Louden Shafer, Formerly of Center Drowned in Skunk River, Iowa.
To the Editor.
Since your last issue, particulars regarding the sad death of Mr. Louden Shafer, mentioned at that time has been received. It seems that in following his business (that of repairing sewing machines) he was in the habit of driving a pony attached to a cart. On the day of his death (Thursday, the 5th inst) he had been out doing some work, and seeing the storm approaching, proceeded to make his way to the place where he boarded, the home of Mr. S. N. Holden, of Galesburg. Arriving at the Skunk river at a small village called Metz, he found that the bridge was undergoing repairs, but was informed by the workmen, that there was a ford a few rods below where the river could be crossed in safety; following their directions he proceeded to cross, but either the river had risen rapidly or he failed to find the exact spot indicated by the workmen, for when in the middle of the stream he was caught by the current and carried down the stream. After making several attempts to reach shore he became entangled in the harness and was carried down together with the horse, before those to whom he had called for assistance could reach him. It is about several years since he left this place, but judging from the letter received from the one with whom he made it his home, he certainly has not looked for that which tends to make life pleasant. Mr. Holden says in his letter, bearing the following name: "My family and myself thought so much of him as though he were one of our own family. He made friends wherever he went." The following lines are suggested by one of the friends:
His eyes were closed in his last long sleep,
By the cold, cold waves of that river so deep;
And perhaps his last words were of loved ones known.
But whatever his thoughts, they will never be known.
By the friends here on earth; but all will be known
When we follow him there to his Maker in heaven.

THE WEEKLY ROUND UP.
A Visit to the Battle Field of Gettysburg by a Well Known Rock County Man.
The board of education is making satisfactory progress in formulating plans and specifications for heating and ventilating the high school rookery. After discussing the question for the last three or four meetings, they last evening progressed far enough in the matter to fire all outsiders and the only newspaper reporter from the meeting room. This would indicate that something is about to be accomplished, in which case the people interested in that building will rejoice.
THE STORM OF LAST NIGHT AND THE DAMAGES RESULTING.
Trains Delayed by Washouts.—The Races Declared off and Many Other Local News Items.
The following letter, describing a recent visit to the Gettysburg battle field, will be read with interest, especially by old soldiers:—
"The day was all that could be desired, beautiful the sky, balmy and fresh the air. The way led through picturesque scenery. From Baltimore, we went by way of the Western Maryland railway, up through scenic lands, where country, made famous, by hard and fierce struggle to maintain a holy cause. Arriving at Gettysburg about noon, a distance of 120 miles from Washington, we immediately proceeded to secure a conveyance to drive over the battle ground where men struggled between life and death to maintain the Union. It is indeed a magnificent sight to trace the long line of conflict between the two great armies of the north and south. This famous battle of Gettysburg was a three days' fight, the 1st, 2nd and 3rd days of July, 1863.
The gentleman who drove us over the field is an old resident of that country, and was familiar with the field, and history of the battle; was an eye witness of the stirring scenes of that terrible battle. In passing, he would say what he saw here and there: "Upon this very spot lay two men who had been shot down, and by lying too long upon the ground, had become frozen stiff, but had become fearfully blackened by the heat of the sun; here lay so many men; yonder four horses lay dead,—belonging to some artillery; all over you will lay heaps of the slain." As we proceeded further, we came to Cemetery Ridge, where, is seen the very breastworks thrown up by the union forces, behind which cannon are placed; (not the actual cannon used in that fight) but other cannon made for the purpose, to remain there for all time—to show the very position of the Union army. There are many points into the valley and toward what was the rebel lines. The long line of breastwork extends for miles through Culp's Hill which can be seen even now. Moments do the entire line, marking some incident in the course of the fight, where some commanding hero fell, or regiment without some fierce charge. The trees are living witnesses of that great battle of the war, huge scars made by cannon ball or musket bullet is still to be seen upon them.
The National burying ground at Gettysburg is a grand sight, laid out in a half circle upon a gentle slope. Hundreds upon hundreds of Union dead lie here. No large stone at each grave but a small granite block with a number upon each block; some are marked "Unknown."
It was here, within the national cemetery that Senator Tugals made his speech, which is given in the Press. Some portions of the field we did not visit on account of limited time. The park known as Round Top and Little Round Top, we only saw at a distance. We returned in good condition, not being very tired, on account of doing but very little walking—the expense of the trip very moderate, it being less than three dollars.
H. L. AUSTIN.
THUNDER AND LIGHTNING.
Several Washouts as the Result of Last Night's Storm.
The storm of last night did a great deal of damage throughout the county. The rain descended in torrents and the lightning followed the electric light wire into Fred Shilson's saloon, extinguishing the light and leaving the place in total darkness. No particular damage resulted.
It also played the same trick at McDougherty's saloon on West Milwaukee street. Here the lightning after playing with the electric lamp for a few minutes jumped to a gas fixture and exploded with a loud report. There were several men in the place playing pool and they made themselves scarce in quick time. A hole in the ceiling also remains to show where the frisky fluid went out.
The morning trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad were all more or less delayed by washouts along the line. The Monroe train is held by a washout near Calmar and will probably not arrive until to-morrow. A force of men are at work repairing the break which is located nearly in the same place as the washout a short time ago.
At Rockford the railroad yards of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. are reported to be under water. A special dispatch to the Chicago Herald from Rockford, says that five blocks of new pavement was washed out and that two dwelling houses were struck by lightning and one burned to the ground. The Rockford train did not get in this morning and will probably not arrive for a day or two as a bridge is reported to be washed away near that city. The Chicago train received orders this morning to proceed as far as Beloit and await further orders.
The stock freight train which leaves here in the night for Chicago, got away all right in charge of Conductor Westley, but ran into a washout at Letham, Ill., a few miles from Rockford. Mr. John Delen was the engineer. It is not known how badly the train was wrecked. As far as can be learned, no one was injured.
About ten o'clock last night a terrific flash of lightning accompanied by a peal of thunder brought everyone in the city to their feet. It rang the gongs in the engine house and also several telephones about town. The whole sky was lit up as bright as day by the flash, while the thunder sounded as though a whole battery of artillery had been discharged at once. The storm did not do much damage in the city, but in surrounding towns trees were blown down and considerable havoc wrought with the growing crops.
It is said that a good many men who asked for their money back at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, came in over the top of the fence and were trying to get something for nothing.

THE SPRING MEETING OF THE JANESVILLE DRIVING PARK ASSOCIATION.
The spring meeting of the Janesville Driving Park Association is over. It was not as successful as previous meetings, and on account of the rain one day's events had to be declared off. The directors held a meeting this morning and concluded that it was useless to try to start the 2:40 trotting, 2:30 pacing and 2:35 trotting race, and these were accordingly declared off. The 2:35 class was a guaranteed stake and could only be declared off by a mutual consent of the association and owners who had horses entered but both decided it folly to try to trot while the track was covered with several inches of soft mud and the race was declared off. The pool sellers, peanut stand, etc. and all other things were closed. The meeting has not been a financial success owing to the unfavorable weather. Most of the trotters have left for Freeport and other places to compete for new honors.
The grand stand and dining hall are once more deserted, and will probably be so until the Fourth of July, when the Old Settlers will hold their picnic and celebration on the grounds.
The starter's bell and the call of "Judge Riley 30, tied 25," will not be heard until the field next September, unless the association should decide to hold another trotting meeting next August.

SCHOOL MATTERS.
The board of education held a special meeting last evening at the common council chamber, President F. Thers presided, all the commissioners being present except Commissioner Valentine.
On Sept. Stewart's recommendations the following high school pupils were admitted to graduate June 26th. A. W. W. Amy Bowles.
Otheine Agnes Clark.
Helen Agnes Gately.
Margaret Ellen Joyce.
Lue Ellis Minor.
Anna Louetta Morrissey.
Anna Holmquist McNeil.
Sybil Agnes Nash.
Jessie Belle Ziegler.
Propositions were made to heat the high school building by Fuller, Warren & Co., and Kintan Warming and Ventilating Co., of Chicago, also John W. Mills, of this city.
The board considered these several propositions with closed doors but at the end of a lengthy discussion it was moved and carried that the president and clerk confer with architect H. O. Koch, of Milwaukee, as to the best plan of ventilating said building.
Petitions were read relating to increase of salaries of the second and third assistant teachers in the High school, and also the principal of the first ward school, the same being placed on file without objection.
On motion the board adjourned.

A Proposed Umbrella Trust.
NORWALK, Ohio, June 14.—New York parties have been in this city in consultation with Sprague & French, extensive umbrella manufacturers, with a view of forming an umbrella trust. If the deal is consummated part of the goods will be manufactured here.
Manipulated the Mileage Books.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 14.—Edwin J. Elliott, assistant passenger agent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad in this city, is advising this morning. So is at $5,000, and probably more of the company's money. He manipulated the mileage books.
A Railroad Sold for $5,000,000.
COLUMBIA, Ohio, June 14.—The Scioto Valley & New England railroad has been purchased by the Norfolk & Western company, and will become a part of that system. The purchase price is said to have been $5,000,000.
Paul Wick Is Dead.
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, June 14.—Paul Wick, president of the banking house of Wick Bros. & Co., died this morning after a brief illness. Mr. Wick was also largely interested in iron industries in this district.
Pears soap secures a beautiful complexion.
FEMININE SMALL-TALK.
Patti's American tour made her richer by $150,000.
Queen Christine of Spain is 31 years old. She is said to be the most popular Queen the nation ever had.
Mlle. d'Alba, niece of ex-Empress Eugenie, at her wedding received gifts which were valued at $1,000,000.
Mrs. Harriet A. Ketchum has won the prize for the best design for a soldier's monument offered by the State of Iowa.
Mrs. Langtry is reported by a London correspondent to have developed an unexpected and hitherto unsuspected religious fervor.
Mrs. Peruzzi, second daughter of Charles Dickens, paints children's portraits, and is now making a series of sketches for an English magazine.
Mrs. Harrison presented a plate decorated by herself to a fair at Washington to be raffled at $1 a chance; also a doll-baby and trousseau valued at $300.
Mrs. John M. Burke of Philadelphia owns locks of Thomas Jefferson's and Gen. Jackson's hair, which she inherited from her brother, Thomas T. Burke.
Sallie Joy White is probably the best known of Boston's newspaper women. She has been engaged in newspaper and literary work for the last twenty years.
Mrs. Maxwell-Scott, owner of Abbotsford, has a reputation as a good story teller from the fees paid by tourists who wish to see Sir Walter Scott's books, curiosities and personal relics.
Annie Besant, who is soon to visit America to preach theosophy, is a most interesting platform orator. She is not a particularly pretty woman, but her face is attractive and full of force.
Princess Pauline Metternich is a clever amateur actress. At a performance at Vienna she walked about among the audience in the costume of a washerwoman, receiving compliments and assuring advice.
Mrs. Garfield is now 55 years old. She is somewhat stouter than of old, and her hair is whiter than in the days of her Washington life. She is still as good looking as in her mourning costumes then in the brighter colors she used to wear.
Mrs. Ambrose Crouch of South Jackson, Mich., during the last year has baked for her family 2,368 cookies, 1,988 doughnuts, 217 cakes, 367 pies, 81 puddings, 793 loaves of bread, and sold 916 pounds of butter. Her family is not large, either.
Miss Alcott wrote in January, 1874: "When I had the youth I had no money; now I have the money, I have no youth, and when I get the time, if ever I die, I shall have no health to enjoy life. I suppose it's the discipline I need, but it's rather hard to love the things I do and see them go by because duty chafes me to my galaxy."
REMUNERATIVE SONGS.
"She Wore a Wreath of Roses" was sold by the composer for 42c. When the copyright was sold the auctioneer's hammer fell at $300.
George Barker allowed the "White Squall" to go for 40 shillings, though after Messrs. Cramer had realized thousands by it they sent the composer a check for $100.
Leslie's well-known song, "Four Jolly Smiths," was recently sold for $202 10s, and that beautiful Scottish melody, "Afton Water," by Alexander Hume, for $100.
For "There's a Good Time Coming," Henry Russell received $2, for "The Maniac," $1, and for "Man of the Lifeboat," 10s. Yet all these songs have been a source of immense profit to the music sellers.
"Grandfather's Clock" was for a season one of the most popular ditties of the nineteenth century. Thousands of pounds were made by it, yet Mr. E. C. Bertrand got only a few shillings for the copyright.
"Cheer, Boys, Cheer," which the regimental bands played when the British soldiers were starting for the Crimea, and from which the publishers have realized many thousands, secured for Henry Russell only $1.
Every one knows the song "Allice Where Art Thou?" Mr. Wellington Guernsey, the composer, offered it to several publishers for a $5 note, but the refused the bargain, only to find, to their latense annoyance and dismay that it eventually attained an immense sale.
